

Good products make good trade...

Chief Architect: M. V. Posokhin. Built by: Mossoedelstroy

THOUSANDS of square yards of Marleyflor were used to cover floors of the great new Congress Hall in the Kremlin. The choice of Marleyflor for this important building is a tribute to the excellence of this all-British product. Still further evidence that quality leaps frontiers.

MARLEYFLOR is the ideal floor covering for commercial, industrial, institutional and domestic use. Vinyl through and through, it is rot-proof, crack-proof, resistant to stains, oils, grease and household chemicals. Whatever the area to be covered, Marleyflor 48" wide can be seam welded to give a complete jointless surface, colourful, hygienic, long wearing and trouble free.

MARLEY • SEVENOAKS • KENT Tel: Sevenoaks 55255 London Showrooms: 251 Tottenham Court Road, W.1

MARLEYflor

is certainly going places

MARLEY SEVENOAKS • KENT

Marley.

The Times (London, England), Monday, Nov 06, 1961; pg. 9; Issue 55231. (143 words)

Category: Display Advertising

© Times Newspapers Limited

Gale Document Number:CS152920422