
PHARMACY AND POISONS ACT

The attention of the public, especially of retail traders, is drawn by the Home Office to the fact that the provisions of the Pharmacy and Poisons Act, 1933, and the Poisons Rules, 1935, came into full effect on May 1, and replace the former requirements regarding the sale and distribution of poisons, which are repealed. The changes in the law are of particular concern to shopkeepers, such as grocers, ironmongers, seedsmen, corn merchants, oil and colourmen, and drysalters, who deal in household ammonia, disinfectants, strong acids, and alkalis, and poisonous preparations used in agriculture and horticulture. A memorandum on the provisions of the Act affecting such shopkeepers can be purchased directly from H.M. Stationery Office, Adastral House, Kingsway, London, W.C.2. or through any bookseller, price 3d. net (post free 4d.).

Pharmacy And Poisons ACT.

The Times (London, England), Saturday, May 09, 1936; pg. 4; Issue 47370. (132 words)

Category: News

© Times Newspapers Limited

Gale Document Number:CS68497065