

Terms and conditions for use of cartoon images from the British Cartoon Archive website.

By downloading images from the British Cartoon Archive (BCA) website you are bound by the following Terms & Conditions. Please read them carefully.

All material supplied via the British Cartoon Archive website is protected by copyright and other intellectual property rights, and duplication or sale of all or part of any of the Data Collections or images is not permitted, except if your institution has signed an agreement with the BCA in which case specific non-commercial use for educational purposes is permitted. You must obtain permission for any other use. Electronic or print copies may not be offered, whether for sale or otherwise to anyone who is not an authorised user.

The agreement can be viewed here:

Educational use means for the purpose of teaching, distance learning, private study and or research and not for any monetary gain or sale of the product in which the cartoons are included.

Provided your institution has signed the agreement, and your proposed use for non-commercial education use, you MAY do the following:

- Electronically save in order to search retrieve, display and view the cartoons for educational purposes.
- Incorporate copies of the cartoons for use in printed or electronic course packs, study packs, resource lists and other material to be used in the course of instruction and or in virtual managed environments hosted on a Secure Network.
- Incorporate the cartoons in assignments and portfolios, theses and dissertations.
- Publicly display the cartoons as part of a presentation at a seminar, conference or workshop.

Each cartoon must carry the following information:

British Cartoon Archive, name of the artist, publication and date of publication.

You MAY NOT do the following:

- Include the cartoons in anything which attracts a monetary reward either directly or through the sale of the product in which the cartoons appear. Re-use the cartoons in newspapers, magazines, on television, in printed books, monographs, journal articles and textbooks; in printed teaching materials or exam papers circulated outside the institution; and in websites, or digital publications such as e-books and e-journals
- Display or distribute on any electronic network, including the Internet and World Wide Web and any other distribution medium now in existence or hereinafter created
