Hockey Clubs Must Catch 'Em Young

valuable coaching which goes on in sensor teams, our senior hockey standard would not be high.

What happens to many schoolgirl players once they leave school? Some go to the University or Training College teams, a small proportio; join F.P. clubs. The rest seem to drift sway.

Now is the time for senior clubs to begin recruiting for next season, and catch the young ones before they put away their sticks and boots for good.

Pre-war, our F.P. clubs (with a few exceptions) fielded two or three elevens, but their numbers have fallen off. Secretaries should make a big effort to build right now. One way is to contact games mistresses and ask for a list of players who are likely to be leaving school, and chase them up. If possible, ask them to the club's A.G.M so that they can have an idea of what is going on in senior bockey. The extra bit of work is surely worth while. The more members a club has, the keener is competition for places, and the standard of hockey all round rises.
